Nothing so radical as his definition of God bas appeared for many years. He would take away the term God and use in its place "Our Father?" This he considers the right name in aphase on Nevember 4. This was to show that the ballots in Peatross strongholds were without electoral show that the ballots in Peatross strongholds were without electoral board seals, the same as bailots in he considers the right name in approaching the Almighty.

This twentieth century Christianity of Dr. Eliot does not believe in the Garden of Eden. The serpent tempting Eve and then tempting Adam he turns over to the rubbish heap.

He says God did not make man out of the dust of the ground. God did not turn stonemason and give into the sample of Moses the Ten Commandation.

Show that the pations in Peatrons is strongholds were without electoral board seals, the same as bailots in Treby strongholds. Judge Chichester personally examined the Brambleton bailots. He said 50 per cent of these appeared to be without the seal impression.

"Men of science," says Dr. Ellot, "have no faith in magic or miracle."

Dr. Ellot's religion will stop speculation in theology. It puts a damper on future schools of theology, like on future schools of theology, like that which has been the outgrowth of that which has been the outgrowth of the century in Germany.

The evidence of Mr. Chapman was along the same line.

School League Organized.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Shackelfords, Va., January 2.—The public school at Centreville recently organized a School and Civic League, with the following officers: President, G. C. Bland; vice-president, Miss Bessle Vaughan; secretary, Miss Mary Marston; treasurer, J. W. Vaughan.
The league is the result of the activities of Superintendent William G. Rennolds, School Trustee H. T. Marston, the teachers of the school and a few interested patrons. Hegular monthly meetings will be held, the next one being scheduled for the night of January 8, when it is hoped that Prof. J. H. Binford, of the Co-Operative Education Association, and Prof. K. J. Hoke, of the Richmond schools, will be present.

Of much interest to music-lovers is the announcement by Manager Wise the booking of the San Carlo Grand Opera Company for January 12 and Opera Company for January 12 and 13, Monday and Tuesday, with Tues-day matinee.

While this organization has never appeared in Richmond before, it is well known in the larger cities as the most elaborate and meritorious traveling grand opera company in America. Nearly all of its artists are recruited from the operatic forces of Mexico and South America, particularly Mexico City, Buenos Aires and Rio Janeiro, which cities, as all who follow the opera in America know, almost invariably have heard the world singers long before the Metropolitan Opera of New York has secured them.

The operas announced for Richmond are: Monday night, "Lucia di Lammermoor": Tuesday afternoon, "Traviata," and Tuesday night, "Il Trovatore."

Va.) farmer, recently convicted of assaulting Miss Kate Turner, of an old and prominent Virginia family, while a guest at his home, to-day was sentenced to fourteen years in Moundsville penitentiary by Judge John M. Woods, who overruled the defendant's motion for a new trial. Wilson's attorneys took an appeal to the West Virginia Supreme Court.

| Failure to Keep Promise Cause of the militants." New York, January 3.—The failure of the British Parliament to keep their campaign promises is largely responsible for the "madness of the militants." declared George Lansbury, a noted English suffragist, in an address to-day at the City Club. Mr. Lansbury, who is a member of Parliament, freed himself from imprisonment for the use of alleged seditious language last July by a three-day hunger strike. He said that of the 670 members of the Parliament, about 600 had pledged themselves in favor of woman suffrage, but had changed their minds since election.

Nashville, Tenn., January 3.—By the terms of the will of the late S. A. In practical effect, the bequest leaves the Confederate Veteran to the Confederate associations in perpetuity.

Train Auditor and Conductor Held for Ejecting Passenger.

Bartiesville, Okla., January 3.—W. L. Bordette, a train auditor, and W. E. Zinc. a conductor, both employed by the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Rallroad, were arraigned here to-day on charges of assault and battery in connection with the ejection of G. B. Freels from one of the company's passenger trains yesterday, after Freels had refused to pay a 3-cent fare. The men were arrested on complaint of the State Corporation Commission.

County and State officials say more trouble will result from any attempt by interstate railroads to collect a 3-cent fare in Oklahoma, in defiance of the State's 2-cent rate law. The county attorney of Washington County to-day said all trainmen who eject passengers for refusing to pay a higher rate will be arrested.

Attorneys for the Missouri, Kansas and Texas said when fights follow a refusal of passengers to pay the fare asked, passengers will be prosecuted in Federal court.

Canal Soon in Condition to Pass Vessels All Way Across Isthmus.

Washington, January 3.—The Panama Canal will be in condition to pass vessels all the way across the Isthmus within the next seventy days, it was learned to-day, unless extra obstacles are encountered. This is the judgment of a high canal official, who declines to fix the date more definitely.

The only remaining obstacles to prevent the passage of vessels now are the Cucaracha Slide, which blocks the cut at Culebra, and other small slides in the same locality. Dredging is progressing satisfactorily on these slides. In view of uncertain conditions surrounding the work it has been deemed impolitie to attempt to fix a definite Alleged Murderer Captured.

Asheville, N. C., January 3.—John A. Ottinger, the deaf mute wanted in Asheville on the charge of murdering his wife on Christmas night, was captured to-day by officers near Newport, Tenn., while attempting to make his way across the line. Ottinger's wife was found, fatally shot, on a street here the morning after Christmas, and her last words accused her husband of firing the fatal shot. Ottinger escaped at the time, and the search for him has extended over several States. He will be brought here to-morrow. Alleged Murderer Captured.

O'Brien's Minstrels

Two great, big audiences at the Academy of Music yesterday laughed as loudly and applauded as enthusiastically as though Neil O'Brien had a great show, which he most decidedly has not great show, which he most decidedly has not.

His soloists are bad; his chorus is weak; he has, besides himself, only one end-man worth mentioning, and one sketch in his after-part depends for comedy solely upon the antics of a pitifully misshapen dwarf. But—and this is a great, big "but"—O'Brien is a whole minstrel show in himself. He is the best impersonator of the real negro of the shiftless sort on the minstrel stage, not even excepting Honey Boy Evans himself, and he is absurdly funny even when he is doing nothing.

cause of any particular merit in the skit, but because O'Brien is on the stage during its entire progress.

The first half of the performance is, for the most part, very ordinary indeed; then follows the sketch in which the dwarf is featured, and immediately afterwards comes the most effeminate yodler that ever yodled. Pete Detzel's cleverly conceived and well executed ensemble dances brighten the performance, which is further lightened by graceful, fat Eddie Mozier and Walter Lindsey, a tip-top and inoffensive female impersonator, who dance and sing "You Made Me Love You," and by Doran and Strong in an eccentric dance.

After "Parcels Post," Eddie Ross delivers a rather tiresome monologue, but saves himself by his brilliant performance on a wire-stringed banjo, which he plays without a plectrum, and by whistling—believe it or not—two parts at the same time.

The show closes in novel manner with a reversion to the first part setting and edstuming, while a boy soprano sings "Good Night, White Folks," and as the audience files out the song is repeated by a dictaphone arrangement, the boy singing off stage, while the sound is transmitted over wires and megaphoned through the house and lobby.

The program for the trip will be published after the second accouchement of the young grand duchess, which is shortly expected.

Countess Alexandra appealed to the Czar, who refused her petition because her mother's rights might be prejudiced. There was no way out but a legal wrangle. The first court of the Senate disagreed. The matter, therefore, was taken before a full committee of the Senate, which now also has failed to agree, twenty-nine deciding in favor of Countess Sophy, while the remainder were of the opinion that the matter was outside their jurisdiction. Apparently the Czar himself will now give the final decision, but an interesting fact has just become known. Professor Charles Wright, a brother of the famous physician, Sir Almroth Wright, and head of the London Library, has been handed, by Countess Sophy, copies of certain manuscripts and asked to decide what was best litted for publication during the present generation.
